

Building high-tech DREAMS —one home at a time

PROJECT INSTALLATION: Premier Smart Homes
PROJECT LOCATION: Toronto, Canada

Rose Barroso, Barroso Homes

My career first began in interior renovations. About 12 years ago, I started Barroso Homes after a real estate agent told me that I should follow my vision and passion for beautiful things. I love to turn creative thought into beautiful places that will be admired and remembered.

Over the years, our projects have become increasingly larger, more complex, more beautiful, and ultimately more technology focused. I have an awesome team backing me up all the way. We all have one common goal—to make beautiful, innovative communities one custom home at a time. We all take great pride in our jobs while we focus on being a leader in innovation, technology, and energy efficiency.

Control4 has become a staple in all of Barroso Homes' builds. We want to stand out. We want to be at the forefront of what technology has to offer. And we want to keep thinking outside of the box. The Control4 technology, along with our outstanding Control4 Dealer, Premier Smart Homes, allows us to do just that.

In our builds, it's not about the "Jetson" way of life. The way I approach every project is by asking myself: "How can I improve on something that is already pretty spectacular? Where do I find that next new material or piece of technology that will keep us fresh and innovative?"

At times, home automation can be quickly disregarded by clients. But as the benefits are introduced and explained, the interest barometer rises significantly. Once they understand how home automation can add a layer of security, comfort, and convenience to their lives, it becomes clear, and they become instant enthusiasts.

ArtHouse7 was inspired by California living. With grand spaces, open concepts, and massive numbers of glass walls, it also boasts a backyard oasis to be envied.

Luminoso home

Hillside House, perched atop a hill, was inspired by the views and natural surroundings. The house feels as if it's floating within the trees.

Our clients generally have younger children, are tech savvy, and entertain often. For these clients, home automation was/is a perfect fit. They appreciate that they can check security cameras while they travel abroad, see who is visiting upon arrival, receive notifications as their children come and go, and—of course—it's a huge bonus to be able to fully control their music, lighting, and other features as they host events without ever leaving their guests' presence.

Each project is 100% different and special in its own way. Although I certainly have “my muses,” I’m proud to say that Control4 has played a significant role in all of our builds. ■

Luminoso is picture-perfect and is the epitome of modern design with super clean lines.
